Opening Remarks

These Are the Days of the Week

Hope you're up for a little change, because we're about to stir things up in the what days are for what department.

#MusicMonday and #MotivationMonday are history. We're going back to just calling it Monday. Mondays aren't special. Mondays are a drag. If you must, call it "Monday Monday" like that great song by the Mamas and the Papas—only that's music, so no.

#TacoTuesday will continue, but only if you eat your tacos without lettuce. Nobody, I mean nobody, likes lettuce on tacos. #TuesdayThoughts is abolished immediately, unless you're thinking about tacos.

#WellnessWednesday? Forget it. It's too late for most of us.

#ThrowbackThursday will remain, but you can only share photos that are at least 50 years old. You probably deleted most of those from your smartphone.

We're keeping #FollowFriday, but Twitter tags are limited solely to @BeachcomberFL, @HarborDocks, and, inexplicably, @TheRealFunyuns.

As for #SaturdaySwag, I've always had a problem with that clumsy (well, nonexistent) alliteration. Let's change it to #SaturdaySag and see what kind of horrifying images people share.

Editor Manson and future Pet of the Issue Lilly put the June 14-27 issue of BEACHCOMBER—and themselves—to bed.

This Issue's Contributors

Kathleen Broaderick (Cover) is an award-winning artist known for her bold use of color and light resulting in fresh, relatable, energetic pieces. Ms. Broaderick shares tips and techniques during acrylic single-session classes and multi-day intensive oil painting workshops in her CHROMA Studio & Gallery on 30A. To learn more, call 1-844-5-CHROMA or visit CHROMA30A.com.

Nikki Hedrick ("The Truth About Cat Rhodes"), a resident of Seagrove Beach, is a photographer and longtime Beachcomber contributor. She co-owns 850 Music and Entertainment and so far, we're happy to report, she hasn't encountered any Bridezillas at the weddings she and Edward McGrath have been photographing this year.

Samantha Lambert (Summer Reading 2018) is still loving being back in Florida after 35 years away. She enjoys writing for Beachcomber and, as a former teacher, is using her skills to tutor local students.

Chris Leavenworth (The Pauseandplay.com Record Roundup) is a writer and musician, and the hard-working honcho behind Destin Harvest.

Clay Jones (Cartoons) syndicates his cartoons daily to publications across the country. Mr. Jones was born in Fort Hood, Texas, and was raised in Louisiana, Illinois, California and Georgia. He currently lives in Fredericksburg, Virginia. You can now watch him create his masterpieces on YouTube.

Opening Remarks CONTINUED...

Finally, the demise of #SundayFunday has been a long time coming. If you're out having fun on Sunday while I'm cleaning the garage and giving the dogs pedicures, I don't want to know about it.

YOUR THOUGHTS AND COMMENTS

Thanks for the article, Charles ("Boat Building Visionary: Nothing Average About Steve Sauer" by Charles Morgan III, May 31-June 13 Beachcomber). A nice tribute to a unique and talented friend. He will be missed by all who knew him.

- David Conkle

A big thank you for continuing to run the articles by Carl Hiaasen. He is a fine writer, and I feel fortunate to have a source to read him.

I have had a hard time locating Beachcomber since they stopped being delivered to the lobby of the building holding the fitness center in Sandestin. They have finally completed the construction and maybe you can resume delivery.

Today I noticed many copies of Beachcomber at Sacred Heart Hospital. This seems like a great location. I volunteer there several days a week, and this will be an improvement over the old magazines scattered throughout the hospital.

LEFT: Craig Gillespie's I, TONYA, currently streaming on Hulu, is the GOODFELLAS of ice skating movies—fast-paced, funny and cringe-inducing, with a well-deserved Oscar turn by Allison Janney as Tonya Harding's mother. Hard to believe someone could live for decades without a heart or a soul. Devil woman indeed.

RIGHT: Someday we can tell our grandchildren that for one brief, glorious moment during the summer of 2018, the power of social media was used for good. How a 14-year-old WEEZER fan (perhaps the only 14-year-old Weezer fan) convinced the band to cover Toto's seminal 1982 hit "AFRICA" is anyone's guess, but for about four or five minutes, my faith in humanity was restored.

ABOVE: Actor-director James Franco's THE DISASTER ARTIST, currently streaming on Amazon Prime, is the best and funniest movie about movie making since Tim Burton and Johnny Depp took on Edward D. Wood, Jr. You needn't have seen the abysmal film that inspired Mr. Franco's poignant tour de force, but if anyone out there has a copy of THE ROOM, can you send it my way please?

LEFT: Harlan Coben's DON'T LET GO may be the bestselling author's most absurd (and readable) thriller in years. Now available in mass market paperback, so pick up a copy on your next trip to the supermarket for beer and Pringles.

LEFT: On the initial post-C-bomb episode of FULL FRONTAL WITH SAMANTHA BEE, airing Wednesday nights on TBS, Ms. Bee made an apology for her remarks. I didn't think it was necessary because (1) I'm pretty sure women are allowed to call each other that, (2) the network actually bleeped the word out, and (3) the person that really deserves an apology is Rudy Giuliani—making fun of someone's teeth is hardly perceptive political comedy. But I'll keep watching until the rest of the advertisers bail.

Ruth's Chris to Host Fundraiser for Tenured Server Battling Breast Cancer

Ruth's Chris Steak House at Silver Shells Resort in Destin invites the community, loyal patrons and guests to a fundraiser for server Jimma Grimm Tuesday, June 19, from 5:30 to 7:30 PM at their Courtyard Bar.

Ms. Grimm moved to the area in 1989 and has been in the service industry ever since. She is part of the original team at Ruth's Chris since they opened their doors in 2006 and has been an integral team member ever since.

Ms. Grimm was recently diagnosed with Stage Two Breast Cancer and has undergone surgery and radiation treatment in order to combat the notoriously reoccurring disease. Her fight began on March 16, 2018, yet she has a long road of follow-up appointments and expensive prescription medications ahead of her.

One hundred percent of the money donated will be used to pay for her medical expenses as well as assisting with daily living expenses.

"Jimma is far more than a server here at Ruth's Chris," says General Manager Mike Sable. "She is an essential part of the Ruth's Chris family and is known and adored by everyone. The event is being held in response to an incredible outpouring of patron and staff requests, which is a true testament to how deserving Jimma really is."

The Jimma Grimm fundraiser is free to attend and open to the public. Guests are invited to stop by and meet Ms. Grimm and enjoy complimentary hors d'oeuvres, a silent auction, live music by Michael J Thomas, and a live auction by Luxury Estates Auction Company.

Donations will be accepted throughout the night as well. For those who cannot attend, a GoFundMe account has been created and donations can be made at gofundme.com/WeFightForJimma. Donations may also be dropped off at Ruth's Chris, located at 15000 Emerald Coast Parkway in Destin.

Area businesses interested in donating silent auction items can contact Caroline Boone at 850-460-7777 or caroline@proffittpr.com.

Val-P Museum's Future Looks Bright Thanks to Land Donation

The Heritage Museum of Northwest Florida, through exhibits, programs, and events, seeks to preserve and promote the history of Northwest Florida. Ruckel Properties' recent land donation helps the museum educate the public on local heritage and history through a future expansion.

"The Heritage Museum of Northwest Florida is a worthy cause. It is the keeper of our local history and an educational resource," said Marion Ruckel Skalicky, president and CEO of Ruckel Properties, Inc. "My late father, C. Walter Ruckel, Jr., supported the museum with annual contributions, serving on the Board of Trustees, and volunteering with the Niceville-Valparaiso Rotary for the museum's annual Saturday in the Park Festival.

"With this land donation, I am continuing the Ruckel and Plew families' tradition of honoring the past while building the future."

Ruckel Properties' donation will provide the museum an opportunity for expansion so they can continue their mission to educate the public about the heritage and culture of our area. The museum currently hosts a series called Heritage Alive! Craft Classes where a variety of traditional heritage crafts are taught, including basket weaving, knitting, crocheting, soap making, wood turning, and blacksmithing.

This property will also be used for the Saturday in the Park and Yule of Yesteryear festivals, showcasing Northwest Florida's unique history and culture. The goal is to provide quality educational programs and events to keep the heritage of Northwest Florida alive for guests.

"We are extremely excited about the potential growth of our museum," said museum manager Gina Marini. "This museum relies on the community to support our preservation efforts, and we are very grateful to Marion Ruckel Skalicky and Ruckel Properties for their generous contribution and confidence in us to keep history alive for future generations. Ruckel Properties is part of our history, and now they are making history."

“A Jet-Setting Jesus? I’m Not Seeing It...”

By Carl Hiaasen, Tribune Content Agency

An absolutely true news item: Trying to explain why he asked worshipers to buy him a $54 million private jet, TV preacher Jesse Duplantis said: “I really believe that if the Lord Jesus Christ was physically on Earth today, he wouldn’t be riding a donkey. He’d be in an airplane flying all over the world.”

A few months from now, at the headquarters of Dassault Aviation in Paris:

“Welcome, welcome, Monsieur! You are interested in our new Falcon 7X?”

“Just checkin’ it out. I hear good things.”

“And what brings you to France, young man?”

“Long story short—it was, like, 2,000-plus years ago, I died, got resurrected, went to Heaven, hung out with my Father. Now I’m back. Lots of work to do, though.”

“Oui, for sure! I couldn’t help but notice your humble little donkey.”

“His name is Metaphor.”

“Absolutely adorable. We’ll have him washed and detailed while you look at our jet.”

“Yeah, I’m thinking about a major upgrade. The world’s changed so much since I was here before. Everyone’s saying you’ve got to go totally global to reach the masses. All the top televangelists are flying private. Some of those comb-over guys on cable have a whole fleet of planes!”

“Monsieur, you’ve come to the right place. Our new 7X is the ultimate mode of air travel—elegant, yet understated, piety. Allow me to give you a personal tour of the cockpit and cabin.”

“Uh, but perhaps you could leave your sandals at the bottom of the stairs?”

“Dude, they’re brand-new Reefs.”

“I’m very sorry, but that’s our showroom policy. Follow me aboard. Watch your step...”

“Holy you-know-what!”

“Fantastic, no? This aircraft comfortably carries 12 passengers.”

“A good number for me.”

“Very funny.”

“I’ll start with the basic specs, Monsieur. The 7X has three Pratt & Whitney turbofan engines. It cruises at 459 knots but, if you’re running late to a big revival—”

“Actually, I don’t do the ‘revival’ thing—”

“You can push this baby to 516 knots, which will almost, but not quite, break the sound barrier. And, just between us hommes, if your pilot wants to go all ‘Top Gun’ and show off a little, just put the hammer down and BOOM! Blow the windows out of some cruise ship on casino night—talk about a message from above!”

“To be honest, I’m having trouble picturing myself traveling in such a style.”

“And a devoutly religious person would want to do that...why?”

“To further spread the word of the Lord, of course! And, when you’re done, catch Jennifer Lopez’s show at Planet Hollywood.”

“I’m not familiar with her ministry.”

“Ah, Monsieur! I love your quaint sense of humor.”

“Seriously. I don’t see Vegas in my immediate plans.”

“Then go to St. Barts, or Gstaad, whatever. The new 7X carries 17 tons of fuel, which means you can fly all day. Rev. Duplantis and the other preachers have been very pleased. They say the uninterrupted flight time allows them to contemplate life’s meaning more deeply, and polish their sermons.”

“In other words, the seats fold all the way back.”

“Naturally. This is how we define spiritual serenity at 40,000 feet. Also, there’s a hot shower in the rear of the plane.”

“Why am I not surprised.”

“And the Bluetooth is tres awesome. You can see the Stanley Cup live, binge-watch Narcos or find your favorite movie. I’m guessing The Greatest Story Ever Told.”

“Max Von Sydow was amazing, I gotta admit. Yet it all seems so wrong. How can one bask in such luxury while there’s so much suffering and poverty and illness among the people down below?”

“The other ministers don’t have a problem with that. They say their jets literally take them closer to God.”

“It just so happens that He and I are on a first-name basis, and guess what? He won’t go for a new Falcon. No way.”

“Now, wait, please, you can always do a lease-back. Or consider fractional ownership—I’ve got a waiting list of Russian oligarchs dying for a piece of a 7X.”

“Sorry, but I’ll stick with the donkey. Speaking of which...”

“They’re blow-drying him now, Monsieur.”

Blessed or Lucky?

By Charles Morgan III

I don't know about being blessed. I know about being lucky. I've had lots of luck.

When I've had bad luck, I didn't feel cursed. I just figured that bad luck was the flip side of good luck. Work a little harder and you tend to get luckier.

But to start with—and to borrow from Warren Buffett—I was lucky to be born a white male in 1954, to college educated middle class parents, in America. I could have entered this world in Darfur, Bangladesh, Somalia, or any one of 100 far away, poverty stricken countries.

But luck is not enough. We all know luck can run out. Sometimes it's as simple as a bad draw of cards. Other times you can have a good hand but play it poorly. One of the great indicators of success in tennis matches is called "unforced errors."

Generally, the player with the fewest "unforced errors" wins.

We all commit and survive self-inflicted errors. Many of us suffer health consequences because of excessive drinking, smoking, drug usage, or poor diets. In the world of politics, sports, and entertainment we see unforced errors all the time.

Since the current President of the United States took office, our country hasn't faced a major crisis. But President Trump, using Twitter as a vehicle, creates three or four mini-crises a day with unforced attacks on movie and television stars, politicians, athletes, countries, and all kinds of strange things that cross his mind.

We wander through life and do what we can to navigate the challenges that come from poor decisions. We try to capitalize on good fortune. We strive to pass on to a younger generation the ideals and customs that make for a good life. If we're smart, we find people we can look up to—people who have lived exemplary lives and have lessons to offer so that we can be decent people.

My mother Camille, like her mother Camille, is an excellent bridge player. In contract bridge, everyone plays the same hands. Hundreds of teams compete with everyone playing the same cards. It takes luck out of the game and the best players, barring the misplaying of cards, should win.

Cancer is a little like that. It is an equal opportunity visitor. There's no need for affirmative action in cancer. It is available to all. Wealth, race, creed, intelligence...cancer makes no distinctions.

My mother received a cancer diagnosis early this year.

She's received great medical care—the same as everyone else at the local cancer care clinic. It probably helps that Dr. Hanson, the surgeon, is a friend of hers. Jaime Braden (Rodney's wife) is the head nurse of our clinic, and she is remarkable.

Pea and Ann, who sit next to my mom in the chemo room, are from Navarre and they have become good friends.

But being caught up in the medical system, particularly for someone who has rarely been sick, is a chore. Getting shuffled from doctor to doctor to specialist to test center to doctor to one imaging lab after another is as taxing as the treatment.

Through it all, there is signage and messaging and promotional material encouraging the importance of a positive outlook and a cheerful approach to life.

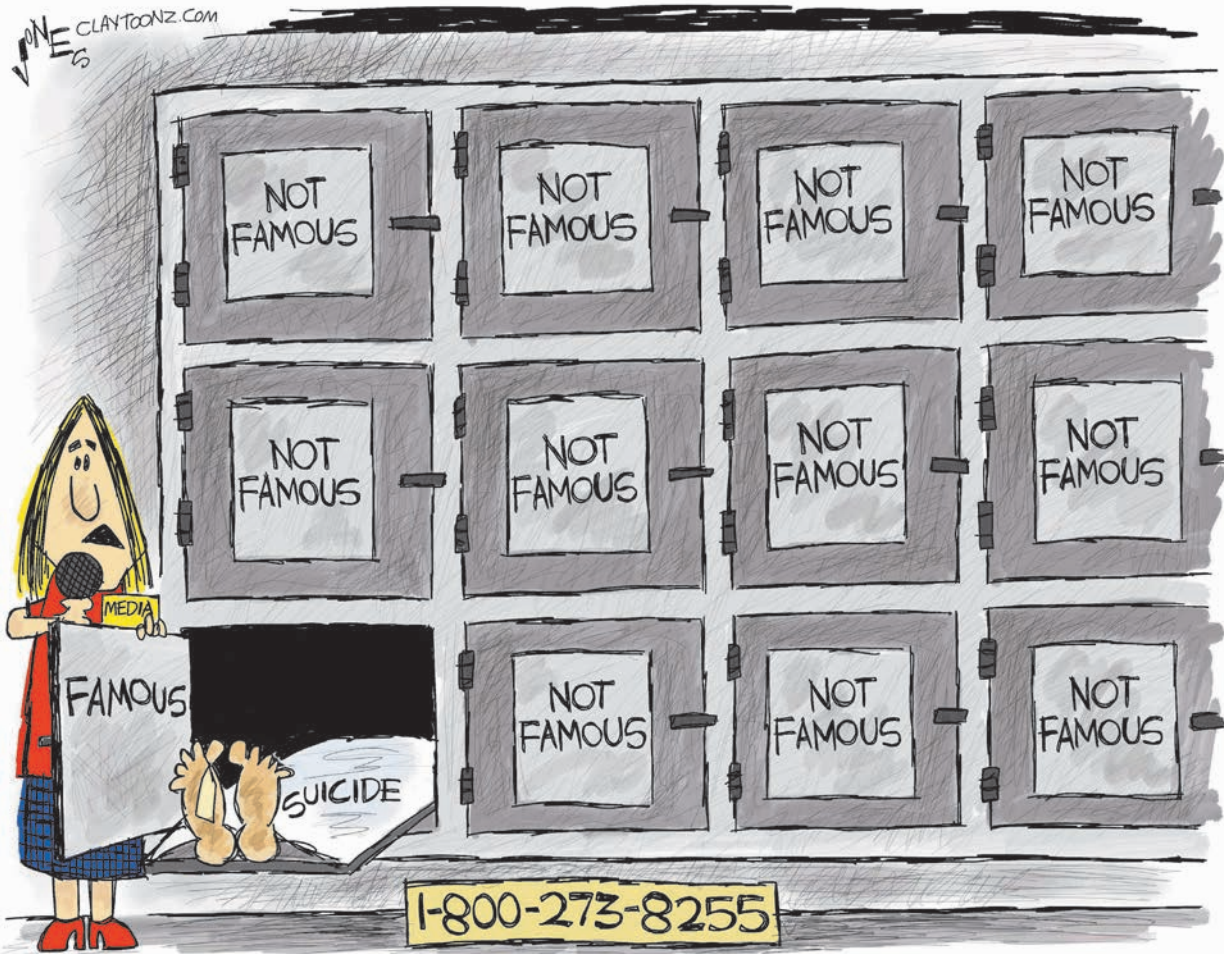

Good luck with that. The odds of someone who is grumpy and pessimistic getting a cancer diagnosis and then becoming positively cheerful are slim.

My mother has had a remarkably positive outlook on life for 86 years. She's been patient, understanding, pleasant and smart for as long as I've known her. None of that has changed.

She's almost finished with her course of treatment, and while she might not have been on top of her game for the last few months, she's close.

Camille is playing bridge this afternoon. It's not contract bridge, so she and her partner will get some hands better than others. That's the luck of the draw.

But that won't really matter.

Kathleen Broaderick Announces Summer Classes at CHROMA 30A

Award-winning Santa Rosa Beach artist Kathleen Broaderick, whose stunning work is featured on this issue's cover, announces details for her Summer Art Series of five intimate, boutique art instruction sessions and one three-day oil workshop.

Painting titles such as "Boathouse Lily," "Seaside Sunflower" and the quintessential "Western Lake," this new series of classes celebrates the natural beauty of coastal life in South Walton infused with Broaderick's signature bold, colorful whimsy. "Red, White & Roo" allows Broaderick to teach her signature patriotic proud rooster and celebrate the summer season.

"What better a way to celebrate summer in lovely South Walton than by welcoming everyone into my beautiful studio gallery and sharing my techniques with fellow art lovers?" asks Ms. Broaderick.

All sessions will be held at Broaderick's CHROMA Studio & Gallery, located at 3925 West Scenic Highway 30A in Santa Rosa Beach.

WESTERN LAKE by Kathleen Broaderick

The single-session classes are two-and-a-half hours long. All supplies are provided, including gallery wrapped canvases, high-quality professional Golden acrylic paints, brushes and step-by-step instructions, plus all the encouragement needed to make a masterpiece. Wine and snacks are welcome, but experience is not required. The cost for each single session class is $75 per person.

The class schedule is as follows:

THURSDAY, JUNE 14
"Boathouse Lily," 6-8:30 PM.

THURSDAY, JUNE 28
"Seaside Sunflower," 6-8:30 PM.

THURSDAY, JULY 5
"Red, White & Blue Roo," 6-8:30 PM.

THURSDAY, JULY 12
"Western Lake," 6-8:30 PM.

THURSDAY, AUG. 9
Elementary Acrylics, 6-8:30 PM.

Get a feel for painting by making a color wheel, mixing color, practicing strokes and then painting small studies on paper. Take home your own small set of six professional Golden brand acrylic paints and paintbrush. Registration is $100 per person.

A two-day Beginner Oils Paint Class is being planned for Wednesday, Oct. 31, and Thursday, Nov. 1. For details, visit CHROMA30A.com.

As a former elementary art teacher, Florida native Kathleen Broaderick is perfectly suited to lead classes for art lovers of all skill levels. Her artistic journey began serendipitously during her last semester at Florida State University, when she filled an open slot in her schedule with a watercolor class. After raising two children and teaching elementary school, she turned her longtime passion into a career.

Her love of watercolor is evident in the transparent, luminosity of her energetic, layered oil paintings. Ms. Broaderick deftly captures the essence of her subjects with bold use of clean color and light created with loose brushstrokes resulting in fresh, relatable pieces.

As the 2016 Poster Art Contest winner, Ms. Broaderick's artwork prominently represented the Mattie Kelly Arts Foundation's Festival of the Arts in Destin. The same year, she also won an Award of Merit in the 21st annual juried art competition.

In June 2017, she designed and opened CHROMA Studio & Gallery on 30A. And that August, she was named an Exclusive Artist for Ballard Designs, one of the nation's premier sources for home furnishings. In October, she was named South Walton Artist of the Year for 2018.

To register for classes and workshops, visit CHROMA30A.com or call 844-5-CHROMA. For the latest updates on new news and art offerings, sign up for CHROMA e-news at the website, and follow Kathleen Broaderick on Facebook and Instagram.

The Truth About Cat Rhodes

Cat Rhodes and EdMo Lanier perform at the 2018 Beachcomber Music Awards.

By Nikki Hedrick

April's Beachcomber Music Awards was dotted with a lot of familiar faces, but one particular voice seemed to catch everyone's attention. Cat Rhodes performed as a guest of Ed Mo and Gwen Lanier of Simply D'Vyne, and Rhodes credits the couple with introducing her to the Destin area.

"They were very inspirational in getting us in that area," says Rhodes. "I love it down there. It's just beautiful. The people are beautiful, and being able to branch out and get other people to appreciate your music and what you do, it's amazing."

Rhodes took to music early in life, with both her mother and grandmother being active gospel singers. "I transitioned from singing with my mom's group, and my mom wanted me to take it a little further than she did," she says. "So, you know I just kinda started branching out and learned that I could write and then got into modeling and acting, and all of it just kinda came in. And

I've been doing it ever since I could talk probably.

"My first professional singing gig? Wow, I guess I was like maybe 17. It was a local group in Mobile called Silk. I was very young, wasn't really sure, you know, straight out of the church. It worked, and it was really something I wanted to do."

Five years ago, Rhodes' career shifted to the blues. She calls it "an easy transition because of the way I felt inside." Cat Rhodes & The Truth released a well-received album, Knee Deep in the Blues, and the band has twice represented the region in the annual International Blues Challenge in Memphis, Tennessee.

"Five years ago was the first time I ever had my own band, and The Truth was created by Bryan Morris," says Rhodes. "If it wasn't for him, I would never have been in the blues industry at all. He was the one that said, 'Cat, why don't you try to sing some blues? I think you'd be perfect, you got a perfect voice for that.'"

"I started listening to people like Koko Taylor, Denise LaSalle, and, of course, I've always loved Tina Turner because of her power.

"Without music, I'm nobody. It is definitely like air for me," says Rhodes. "It gives me an inner peace, and it's kinda unexplainable what happens when I'm singing. But it's a beautiful thing between my Creator and me—we're just having a good time when I'm singing. So that's the best way I can describe it, it's like a heavenly thing for me."

Although Rhodes has found inspiration in the blues, she doesn't limit herself to one genre. "As long as it's great music and it moves me, you know I can be anything." Rhodes and her band are working towards a fall release for their new blues album, and she's also collaborating on bandmate Morris' upcoming jazz LP.

During our interview, Rhodes takes a pause to re-emphasize the importance of Morris in the creation of her band The Truth and her musical journey. "He started this band for me, found the players for me. You know, got me out here in the community traveling around with him and the incredible Kenny Neal, who's Grammy-nominated nine times and won three blues music awards this year.

"He and God and my parents are my strongest inspiration, and so I'm just trying to continue to do great music and meet great people like you that appreciate it.

"If I can make someone smile, you know that lights my heart up," she adds. "I do it to elevate happiness and bring awareness to love and, you know, try using in a positive way. It's my platform to show love and to promote love. I try to do it through my music and everything I do." Anyone who has seen Rhodes perform would heartily agree.

In addition to music, Rhodes is gearing up for a new season of her entertainment talk show Cat Traxx, which airs on Pensacola's BlabTV.

Shemekia Copeland Collaborates with 30A Fest Veterans on Upcoming LP

America's Child is a groundbreaking, genre-bending work of beauty. Shemekia is one of the great singers of our time. This record introduces listeners to another side of her, and I predict it will result in many new fans. Her voice on these songs is nothing short of magic.

- Mary Gauthier

Shemekia Copeland is the real deal. America's Child goes deep, and Shemekia's voice—a national treasure—carries the songs effortlessly, whether topical, personal, spiritual, political or just plain raucous fun. Shemekia rears back her head and what comes out is humanity made vocal.

- Will Kimbrough

Award-winning vocalist Shemekia Copeland releases her potent new Alligator Records album America's Child Friday, Aug. 3. Produced by Americana Instrumentalist of the Year winner Will Kimbrough (a frequent visitor to the area who also plays guitar on the album) and recorded in Nashville, America's Child is a courageous and fiery statement of purpose, a major step forward for a singer whose musical consciousness continues to expand as her star continues to rise.

This is by far Ms. Copeland's most compelling work yet, with music swelling beyond blues and into spirited Americana, with elements of rock, soul, and country. Her instantly recognizable voice—capable of being sultry, assertive and roaring—delivers every song with unparalleled honesty and passion. The three-time Grammy nominee's wide-open vision of contemporary Americana roots and soul music showcases the evolution of a passionate artist with an up-to-the-minute musical and lyrical approach.

From the anthemic opening track "Ain't Got Time for Hate" to the closing lullaby, the traditional "Go to Sleepy Little Baby," Ms. Copeland sings with passion and insight about the chaos and uncertainty in the world while still finding joy all around her.

With guests including John Prine, Rhiannon Giddens, Emmylou Harris, Steve Cropper, J.D. Wilkes, Al Perkins, 30A Songwriters Festival veteran Mary Gauthier and members of the Time Jumpers, America's Child bursts with Ms. Copeland's bravado and embraces with her tenderness.

Ms. Gauthier and songwriter-executive producer John Hahn wrote two striking songs for the project. "Smoked Ham and Peaches" is a search for truth and tranquility in America, featuring Ms. Giddens on African banjo. "Americans" celebrates our collective diversity in all its forms and colors. Mr. Prine joins in for a stirring duet on his own "Great Rain." Mr. Cropper adds his scorching guitar to the ballad "Promised Myself," written by Ms. Copeland's father, the late bluesman Johnny Clyde Copeland. And her version of "I'm Not Like Everybody Else" transforms the Kinks song into a blues-fueled declaration of independence.

Upon the birth of her son Johnny Lee Copeland in 2017, Shemekia, with fresh eyes, began to take an even deeper look at the state of the world. Of the new album, she says, "After having a child, I started thinking about the world I brought him into, how it actually is and how I wished it was and all the things he will have to go through.

"And to live in this world today, you have to have a strong foundation like I did to make it through. So that's what America's Child means to me. I'm truly grateful to all the artists that joined me on this record—it wasn't about the genre for anyone, it was about the music and mutual love and respect."

With America's Child, Shemekia Copeland is standing on the cusp of her greatest success. Her intensely empowering, American music is as insightful as it is fun. Upon release of the album, she'll tour nationwide, including a showcase performance at the Americana Music Festival in Nashville in September.

Faux/Fox Congratulations Independent

Proudly wearing the one-size banner of “alternative,” Pensacola’s Faux/Fox concoct a musical adventure with their first full-length release. Perhaps distantly related to shoegaze forerunners, the band embraces taglines like “Hoping to ruin your day, one song at a time.” Congratulations is a somewhat nihilistic expression of life and the world around us. The lyrics aren’t overtly bleak, just intelligently somber about the trials of real life and the creeping expectations that weigh heavily on our psyches. In short, it is honest music—well conceived and well executed.

- Nikki Hedrick

Ghost Prequelle Loma Vista Recordings

Theatrical rock visionary Tobias Forge and Ghost start off their latest LP with “Ashes,” a short introduction that sets the tone for what’s to come. The black plague, life and death, and the flagrant corruption and subversion by rats (carriers of disease) in modern political and religious institutions are all intertwining themes on the band’s fourth full-length release. Some metal elitists don’t like that Ghost’s sound is becoming more and more poppy, but I’m not sure what they expect—the band has consistently been doing their own thing since Opus Eponymous, never pandering to any niche audience. There’s something sensational and invigorating about the sound of ‘80s pop-rock conflated with dark heavy rock and metal elements. The saxophone solo on the instrumental “Miasma” induces goose bumps with every listen, and just try not to sway your hips to the infectious riffs on “Witch Image.” Like their previous album Meliora, Prequelle is nothing short of a masterpiece.

- Chris Leavenworth

Eddie Henderson Be Cool Smoke Sessions

Since its founding in 2014, Smoke Sessions Records has put out some of the tightest, most spot-on recordings I’ve ever listened to. Trumpet-flugelhorn player Eddie Henderson sits down here with Donald Harrison (sax), Kenny Barron (piano), Essiet Essiet (bass) and Mike Clark (drums). Henderson is a renaissance man—he’s played with Herbie Hancock, Pharoah Sanders and The Jazz Messengers, among others. He also practiced medicine (how come he’s not called Doc?), not a common day-job in American jazz. Be Cool is a concise sampler of the range of Henderson’s work, including West Coast, funk, and straight-ahead jazz. Dig in.

- Bruce Collier

The Mulligan Brothers Songs for the Living and Otherwise Southern Routes Records

Hailing from Mobile—and constantly touring—The Mulligan Brothers are far from strangers to this area. Embraced by fans of Americana, country and roots music, the well-traveled band hits an all-new stride with this third full-length studio album. There is something to be said about the art of holding back—not coming at every track with full force, like the old-school-cool of “Possession in G Minor” which burns slow and enticing. The Mulligan Brothers are a band of many talents, but their ability to pace an album and draw the listener in puts them near the top of the heap.

- Nikki Hedrick

Arturo Sandoval, et al. Ultimate Duets Universal Music Latino

Cuban-American trumpeter Arturo Sandoval worked his speed-dial to gather a top-of-the-line group of singers for Ultimate Duets. Answering the call were Placido Domingo, Stevie Wonder, Pharrell Williams, Josh Groban, Ariana Grande, Al Jarreau, and others. Naturally, it’s a mixed program, drawing from pop (“Don’t You Worry ‘Bout a Thing”), American Songbook, show tunes (“People” with Wonder), Spanish and Latino ballads, and art songs like “Granada” (rendered powerfully by Domingo). Sandoval is legendary for his tone, employing his horn like a singer’s voice. With his choice of collaborators here, it’s just what’s needed to hold his own and sing along.

- Bruce Collier

Jim Snidero and Jeremy Pelt Jubilation! Celebrating Cannonball Adderley Savant

Saxophonist-composer-educator Jim Snidero paired up with Jeremy Pelt (my choice for Hardest Working Trumpet Player in Jazz) for a double shot of tribute to hard-bopping saxman Julian “Cannonball” Adderley. Also on board are David Hazeltine (piano), Nat Reeves (bass) and drummer Billy Drummond, who used to play with Cannonball’s trumpeter brother Nat. I don’t need any excuses to listen to hard bop (if I have a favorite jazz style, that’s it), but guys like this make it a privilege. Eight tracks start with a bounce (“Party Time”) and keep on scoring, including lyrical side trips like “Stars Fell on Alabama.”

- Bruce Collier

The Underhill Family Orchestra On the Wind Skate Mountain Records

The idea of roots music making a comeback in recent years and being embraced by younger audiences is an interesting concept in the face of glossy production values and corporate influence. The Mobile-based Underhill Family Orchestra’s newest album captures their live energy and authentic anthems that lean on the music sensibilities of years gone past. Although the band prefers the homespun label of “American Southern Progressive Pop,” the melting pot of southern roots music serves as the backbone of this mighty fine listen.

- Nikki Hedrick

Pauseandplay.com – Since 1997, P&P has been the definitive place for music fans to find out when a new album is coming out. Also stay up on the latest reissues and music-related DVD/Blu-rays and books. Elton John says he uses Pauseandplay.com to keep track of new music, and Entertainment Weekly has included it on its list of “The 100 Greatest Web Sites,” one of only 17 music sites to be selected.

Duke and TK Bardwell, Forrest Williams and More at June 16 Bands of 30A Benefit Show

Bands of 30A hosts a charity concert Saturday, June 16, from 4 to 9 PM, at Grayton Beer Company Taproom in Santa Rosa Beach.

The event marks the fourth concert put on by the Bands of 30A, an organization designed to bring local musicians together to support meaningful charities. The featured beneficiary receiving all proceeds from the concert is Westonwood Ranch, located in Freeport.

Live music begins with TK Bardwell and Beachcomber Music Awards Hall of Famer Duke Bardwell featuring Mark Gillespie at 4 PM; followed by The Max McCann Band at 5; a songwriters round with Q'werty, Mel Knapp and David Chastang at 6; Spanish Fly at 7; and the Beachcomber Music Award winning Forrest Williams Band at 8.

Seagrove Beach Catering will have dinner plates available for purchase. 30A provides wine, and Grayton Beer Company will serve their ice-cold brew. Shore Thing Cigars will be set up on site, too.

Donations from area businesses—including a fishing charter, bonfire, and more—will be raffled off for the event's beneficiary.

Concertgoers are asked to make a $10 donation to enjoy the entire evening of music. Donations may be made at the event or in advance at BandsOf30A.com. The family-friendly event is open to the public. Guests who purchase an official Bands of 30A cup from the donation table can take advantage of discounted drink prices.

A limited quantity of VIP packages are available for advance purchase. The $60 packages includes admission, priority seating, discounted drink cup, event t-shirt or hat, and a Bands of 30A VIP lanyard. Pre-order your VIP tickets online.

To support the concert and answer questions about their organization, representatives from Westonwood Ranch will be attending the concert. Westonwood Ranch offers a unique learning curriculum to improve life skills and vocational skills to young adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD).

In its first three charity concerts—in September and December 2017, and March 2018—Bands of 30A has raised over $20,000 for charity.

PET OF THE ISSUE

Benedict

Submitted by Michael Lauver

Benedict, a French Bulldog, just turned a year old, and Michael says featuring him in Pet of the Issue makes for an awesome (though belated) gift. "I bought him when he was only five pounds and eight weeks old," says the proud doggy daddy. "He loves playing tag and going to the dog park.

"He's a brave little pup and has no problems confronting any dog he approaches, even the ones I find intimidating!"

RIGHT: Benedict takes a nap on Michael's belly. "He's not as light as when I got him."

BELOW: Benedict and Michael in a tree at the Destin Dog Park. "No, he didn't climb up himself," says Michael. "But he jumped down on his own!"

Commissioners Set to Vote on South Walton Community Asset

On June 25, the Walton County Board of Commissioners is set to vote on Point Washington Preserve's ability to operate.

Point Washington Preserve, or PWP, remains one of the largest event spaces in South Walton. Featuring a 5,000 square foot pavilion and two-bedroom cottage, it's nestled near the intersection of U.S. 98 and JD Miller road, surrounded by hundreds of acres of Point Washington State Park's forest.

"This space is an incredible asset to our community," says Doug Liles, director of the Good Samaritan Institute and founder of Point Washington Preserve. "There's nothing like it in our area."

PWP boasts a minimal environmental footprint. With advanced solar technology like Tesla batteries and solar panels powering the space, it's totally off the electrical grid, making it a true zero-energy event center.

"It's an isolated sanctuary, away from the noise, traffic and parking issues that plague south Walton County," says Mr. Liles.

Mr. Liles and his partners at the Good Samaritan Institute say their original idea for the space was to host science- and technology-based retreats, but after encountering the beauty of the space, they wanted the public to have access to hosting their own special events—such as business retreats, conferences, group meetings, summer camps, corporate functions, weddings, concerts, festivals and marketplace events.

"We hope the community and our Commissioners will continue to support us in this," says Mr. Liles. "We encourage you to write your commissioner. Show up to the meeting. Write about your support in our reviews on Facebook and Google. Anything to show that the community wants this venue."

For a sample letter to the commissioners and more information about how to support this project, visit PointWashingtonPreserve.com.

Summer Reading Heats Up

By Samantha Lambert

A great book should leave you with many experiences, and slightly exhausted at the end. You live several lives while reading.

- William Styron

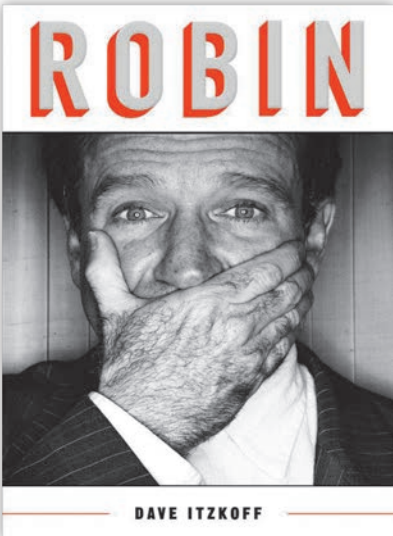

When people are packing up for a vacation to the Emerald Coast, they include books for the beach. When locals are heading out to relax for a day on the beach, they pack a book in their bag. When traveling on a plane or in a car during the summer, people pack a book or two. Popular reads for the summer of 2018 are heating up.

According to The New York Times Bestsellers list for June in the Combined Print and E-Book Fiction category, top summer books include The Cast by Danielle Steel, The 17th Suspect by James Patterson and Maxine Paetro, By Invitation Only by Dorothea Benton Frank, The Fallen by David Baldacci, and The Great Alone by Kristin Hannah.

Top nonfiction books include How to Change Your Mind by Michael Pollan, The Soul of America by Jon Meacham, A Higher Loyalty by James Comey, Zora Neale Hurston's previously unpublished Barracon, and Dave Itzkoff's Robin Williams biography Robin.

Locally, at the Destin Library, interim director Kitti Capps says the Patterson/Paetro, Baldacci and Hannah books are among the most popular adult fiction titles, along with Lisa Scottoline's After Anna. Top nonfiction books include Robert Hilburn's Paul Simon, the Life and Ronan Farrow's War on Peace.

"For young adults, the graphic novels are popular," says Capps. According to Merriam-Webster Dictionary, a graphic novel is a story that is presented in comic-strip format and published as a book. The Amulet series by Kazu Kibuishi and Big Nate by Lincoln Peirce are very popular right now.

For children, the classics are still popular—Dr. Seuss, the Berenstain Bears, Curious George. Call the library at 850-837-8572 for more information about their Libraries Rock! summer reading program.

Fort Walton Beach Library manager Tricia Gould includes Tayari Jones' An American Marriage (an Oprah Book Club selection) among the most in-demand titles, along with Educated by Tara Westover, Us Against You by Fredrik Backman, Little Fires Everywhere by Celeste Ng, and Lisa Wingate's follow-up to Beartown, Before We Were Yours. "Danielle Steel and Dorothea Benton Frank novels are also popular," she says.

Gould also notes that graphic novels are popular with the library's young adult patrons—titles based on Game of Thrones and The Walking Dead in particular.

A summer reading program for children is going on at the Fort Walton Beach Library, along with "Animal Tales" educational programs. A new media lab is open to the public, too. Call 850-833-9590 for more information.

Linda Thompson of the Walton County Coastal Branch Library says, "Many of the adult fiction and nonfiction novels that are listed on the New York Times bestseller list are popular here, including books by Dorothea Benton Frank, Danielle Steel, and James Patterson." Other popular titles include When Breath Becomes Air by Paul Kalanithi and Celeste Ng's Little Fires Everywhere.

Young people are checking out Ernest Cline's Ready Player One—the source material for Steven Spielberg's recent film—and the Harry Potter series. For early readers, the Billie B Brown and Hey Jack series—both by Sally Rippin—are in demand. The library has its own Libraries Rock! summer reading club every Monday in June at 10 AM. There is also a Young Writers Club for students in grades 3-8 Tuesdays at 1:30 PM in June and July. Call 850-267-2809 for more information.

In the words of Dr. Seuss, "You can find magic wherever you look. Sit back and relax. All you need is a book."

Milk! A 10,000-Year Food Fracas

Bloomsbury Publishing

Mark Kurlansky has the enviable ability to take a single item—salt, cod, oysters, milk, or paper—plug it into a human context, and produce entertaining and thought-provoking history. Milk! is part anthropology, part economics, with a dash of politics and even a stock of recipes—most of which look impossible to follow (medieval weights and measures, anyone?). Subjects include nursing (and the breast vs. bottle debate), lactose-intolerance (the natural state for most humans, he notes), and characteristics of different animal milks. Butter, yogurt, cheese, and ice cream get covered, along with less common milk by-products like skyr and kumis.

Summer Wines from the Loire

By Bruce Collier

The Loire region takes its name from the Loire River, the longest river in France. The Loire Valley is probably most famous for its castles (chateaux), whose images grace many a calendar and jigsaw puzzle.

The Loire is also known for its wines, particularly the whites. Summer is the ideal time to explore some of these. They're easy to find, reasonably priced, and pair well with fish, shellfish, lighter meats, and cheese. Red wine is also made in the Loire, and it's worth your time. Some very fine rose and sparkling wines are made in the Loire, but they're for another day.

The grapes traditionally grown for winemaking in the Loire are Chenin Blanc, Sauvignon Blanc, Melon de Bourgogne, Cabernet Franc, Gamay, Pinot Noir, Chardonnay, Folle Blanche, Arbois, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Grolleau. The ones most frequently used are the first four.

For this article, I sampled three representative white wines (served chilled), and one red (served at A/C room temperature). All are available locally.

WHITE WINE

Moncontour Vouvray (2016) Demi Sec $14.99
12% Alcohol by Volume (ABV)
All Chenin Blanc. In the glass, very pale yellow, faint greenish tinge. The nose is fresh-cut pineapple, honey, slightly musty scent. Next is a little spice, fruit cocktail, herbs, grass, and rainwater. On the first sip, pineapple and star fruit flavor, somewhat viscous on the tongue. It's sweeter than expected at first, then follows tart dried peach and apricot, with a honey and lemon drop finish.

Domaine le Clef du Recit (2016) Sancerre $19.99
13% ABV
Sauvignon Blanc. Very light and pale straw color. Scent is floral and spicy, with Granny Smith apple peel. Dry, chalky, citrusy taste; almost—but not quite—fizzy and peppery on the tongue to start. Apple peel lingers on the finish. There's little if any sweetness. It's austere but refreshing, puckery. I drank this with slow-roasted (dark meat) chicken and potatoes. It's a good counterpoint for buttery, herb seasoned meat and potatoes.

Chauviniere Muscadet sur Lie (2016) $9.89
12% ABV
Grapes are all Melon de Bourgogne. "Sur lie" means "on the lees." Lees are deposits of dead yeast or residual yeast and other particles that precipitate to the bottom of a vat of wine after fermentation and aging. Normally wine is "racked," a process that leaves the lees behind. This Muscadet was aged for a time on the lees, imparting a yeasty aroma and taste.

The wine has a very pale, lemony yellow color. There's definitely a yeasty aroma, though it's dry and subtle. The taste is likewise mild and austere. There's a chalky finish, with grapefruit pith and peel, lemon juice, grassy notes, and a tiny fermented-yeast, beery snap at the tail end. No sweetness here, and a light body. Muscadet is the proverbial accompaniment to raw oysters, which makes sense when you consider that many French (and other European) oysters tend to be rather oily, with a nutty or metallic taste.

I was all out of French oysters, but I did have a tin of "vintage sardines" (2012) from Paris. This is an old French tradition—aging lightly smoked sardines in good olive oil for years, sometimes decades, turning the cans over every six months for maximum effect. The object is for the fish to absorb and be mellowed by the oil. I served them on rye bread with unsalted butter and coarse salt, with Gruyere cheese on the side. Gruyere and Muscadet tastes like a deconstructed fondue. The sardines are deeply rich, oily but smooth. The sharp white wine was a perfect balance to the sardines and butter.

RED WINE

Chateau de Coulaine Chinon (2016) $16.99
13% ABV
All Cabernet Franc grape. Dark reddish-black color in the glass, with a cherry/berry pie filling, almond extract scent. The taste is cranberry, jammy, with a slightly thin body, and a quick finish. More time in the glass yielded bell pepper, peppercorn, anise, dry licorice or fennel. I drank it with beef stroganoff (not exactly summer fare) and it paired beautifully with the rich beef, cream and noodles, rounding out the dish. Chinon would be an ideal match for steak, hamburgers, and sausages, including those with creamy or rich sauces or garnishes. At the price, it could become a go-to wine for grilling out.

The wines were all good on their own, but to be truly appreciated. all need to be tasted with food. It's like fitting puzzle pieces together—you get a bigger piece of the picture. The Loire can be very picturesque.

Get Your Flip-Flops – and FREE Smoothie – on Friday, June 15

Inaugural Hog Bash Set for June 19 in PCB

On Tuesday, June 19, Back Beach Barbecue commemorates its one-year anniversary with the inaugural Hog Bash. From 2 to 9 PM, guests are invited to enjoy two whole hog roasts, live music by Kevin Melvin, giveaways, and refreshments provided by local breweries Grayton Beer Company and Idyll Hounds. Proceeds from the afternoon will benefit South Walton Academy.

Back Beach Barbecue opened its doors in June 2017 and is owned and operated by Danny and Monica Cosenzi, the duo behind the famed Restaurant Paradis located in Rosemary Beach. Since opening, Back Beach Barbecue has served locals and visitors alike from their simple yet refined menu of slow-cooked meats, homemade sides and sauces, as well as gluten-free options.

Back Beach Barbecue has partnered with Restaurant Paradis—along with Buddy's Seafood, Grayton Beer Company, and Idyll Hounds Brewing Company—for the event. Each sponsor will provide food, refreshments, and various raffle prizes. Every attendee will be entered into the raffle upon arrival, and winners will be announced throughout the day.

Back Beach Barbecue will donate a portion of the proceeds to South Walton Academy, a private, nonprofit inclusion school in Santa Rosa Beach. The school serves all children up to the 6th grade while working to bridge the gap between communication and children with Autism.

For $15, guests will receive a plate filled with pulled pork, barbeque baked beans, and coleslaw. Back Beach will be roasting two whole pigs beginning at 2 PM, and Mr. Melvin performs from 5 to 8 PM.

Local Nonprofit SoWal Community Chaplain Inc. Launches New Website

SoWal Community Chaplain Emily Proctor

SoWal Community Chaplain Inc., a nonprofit initiative based in South Walton and dedicated to connecting people in the area to needed resources, is excited to announce the launch of its new website, SoWalChaplain.org.

"I hope this website will serve as a great landing page for those searching for support and resources in our community," says Emily Proctor, the SoWal Community Chaplain. "It's a perfect place to learn more about our mission and vision for the organization as well."

The SoWal Community Chaplain provides pastoral care to individuals in times of crisis and transition, and fields requests for information about community and faith-based resources from individuals, businesses, churches and nonprofits.

The Chaplain also works with these organizations and other community groups to share information, resources and ideas for community improvement in south Walton County, often serving as a liaison and representative to the faith-based community.

"Our vision is for everyone who lives, works or vacations in South Walton to have easy access to pastoral care and community resources in a time of need," says Ms. Proctor.

Ms. Proctor, an ordained Presbyterian minister living in Santa Rosa Beach with her husband and two young children, founded the SoWal Community Chaplain after moving here and noticing all the people who struggled to find support—from those who needed resources, such as financial assistance, to those who just needed a bit of emotional support during a crisis.

After voicing her concerns aloud, she received financial backing from Joyful Blessings to cover initial expenses associated with researching if the program was feasible in South Walton County.

In February 2018, the SoWal Community Chaplain received its nonprofit 501(c)(3) status.

Now Ms. Proctor is working with Caring & Sharing of South Walton to create a partnership and eventually mold the SoWal Community Chaplain into a sustainable and permanent ministry of the organization.

"This ministry has so much potential to serve so many different community needs," she says. "From a person who just moved here and wants to get connected in the community or an employer that needs advice on how to help an employee, to someone that needs help finding financial or emotional support, anyone can benefit from utilizing the care we can provide."

For more information about the SoWal Community Chaplain, visit SoWalChaplain.org. Follow the SoWal Community Chaplain page on Facebook to keep up on all the latest.

AQUARIUS
JAN. 21 - FEB. 19

There is nothing logical or rational about the fact that YOU ARE NUMBER ONE!!! YOU WIN! You clobber everyone around you at everything you do. You are the winner of every contest. Success personified.

PISCES
FEB. 20 - MAR. 20

You can read minds like some people read books. This can be very annoying. Most people admire you in such ridiculous ways that it's almost embarrassing. But understandable, because you are one sterling piece of work.

ARIES
MAR. 21 - APR. 20

You are either a genius or telepathic or both. Maybe just a genius. Use your skills to take risky investments, crazy bets, or just spend it on frivolous stuff. There's more where that came from. You can't lose.

TAURUS
APR. 21 - MAY 21

Friends, friends, friends. Everywhere you go, you are surrounded by friends and loved ones. You are the life of every party. Don't sleep. Don't work. Party party party.

GEMINI
MAY 22 - JUNE 21

You are an expert inventor. Invent something new. It will be a huge hit and highly profitable. Then share the money with your newfound friends. When that money runs out, invent something else. What could possibly go wrong?

CANCER
JUNE 22 - JULY 22

You are a natural traveler. Learn languages. Practice archaeology. Fall in love. Or lie around drunk and take lots of naps. You are a leader! People want to follow you. Get crazy!

LEO
JULY 23 - AUG. 23

You're at your best in the heat of summer. Adopt animals. Take on foster children. Build a small village in a crummy country. You are a one-person philanthropy. You make everyone proud to be on the same earth as you.

VIRGO
AUG. 24 - SEPT. 23

Romance romance. Don't be picky and double your chance for a date on Friday night. You'll be like the fox in the hen house. You'll be the insatiable love machine. Dance with your partners.

LIBRA
SEPT. 24 - OCT. 23

Take ice baths and steroids. The physical stress you endure is mind-numbing. Also, take Aleve. You tote heavy stuff on your shoulders because you are like, SUPERHUMAN strong. Only without the cape. Capes are hard to pull off.

SCORPIO
OCT. 24 - NOV. 22

Who is a friend and who is a love partner? Hard to tell since you're so cute and cuddly. Everyone adores you. Don't get a cute puppy—that'd be too much.

SAGITTARIUS
NOV. 23 - DEC. 21

Family members all turn to you because you are so smart and you're a natural leader. You have all the answers. You are by far the smartest person in every room you enter. Take charge.

CAPRICORN
DEC. 22 - JAN. 20

You are the great communicator. Give TED talks. Create lengthy podcasts. Everyone will want to know what you're thinking because you are so smart. And good looking.

FRESH SEAFOOD?

One of the first questions people ask when they visit our area is “How can we be sure we’re getting fresh seafood?”

That’s an excellent question. There is a good chance that the seafood you will be offered traveled farther than you did. In the state of Florida, even though we are surrounded by water, more than 90% of the seafood sold this year will be imported from other countries.

Throughout the United States, the huge majority of seafood is imported. Most of it is mislabeled. Frozen seafood is sold as “fresh” and imported seafood is sold as “local.” According to Oceana, 93% of fish sold as red snapper is actually some other species. 57% of tuna sold at sushi bars throughout the country is not tuna. Most of the tilapia served in this country comes from Viet Nam and Thailand and much of it is farmed in waters with sewage run-off and the source of feed is pig feces.

Harbor Docks has been selling fish through its wholesale market since 1981. We sell to markets across the United States and Canada. We also sell to select restaurants along the Gulf Coast. Harbor Docks contracts with over 100 commercial boats to insure that we have an adequate supply of fresh fish.

We invite you to dine at our restaurants – Harbor Docks, in the heart of Destin, and Camille’s, overlooking the Gulf in Crystal Beach. But we’d also encourage you to try any of the wonderful, independent, local restaurants in our area that are committed to serving Florida seafood. We know who they are, because we sell them their fish.

Check our website to find out which restaurants sell certified Gulf-to-Table fish from Harbor Docks Seafood Market.
